Ivey to Davis: Your Plan Needs Work

(Montgomery, October 16, 2009) “I thank Artur Davis for recognizing my leadership in bringing more transparency and accountability to state government. But he has some strange ideas for accomplishing it. He says he’s the only candidate who favors a constitutional convention. There’s a reason he’s alone on that – it’s a bad idea. Mr. Davis also wants to reduce outsourcing state work to the private sector; instead he would swell the state payroll when we’re already under proration. And he says he’ll give us yet another “special commission” to identify wasteful spending. I’m happy to spare Mr. Davis the trouble by sharing the tips I learned by cutting nearly $5 million in addition to proration cuts out of the State Treasurer’s budget in administrative overhead. We don’t need to elect a governor who needs on-the-job training; we need a leader who delivers effective results as I have done as Treasurer and will continue to do as Governor.”
